LSU School of Veterinary Medicine presents concert by artist-in-residence Charlie Rauh

- WHO: Charlie Rauh, Composer and LSU Vet Med Artist-in-Residence
LSU A Capella Choir, directed by Alyssa Rowe
- WHAT: The LSU School of Veterinary Medicine will host a special concert by Charlie Rauh, acclaimed composer and guitarist, to conclude his monthlong artist-in-residence program.
- WHEN: 5:30 p.m. Sept. 19
- WHERE: LSU School of Veterinary Medicine Library, Skip Bertman Drive, Baton Rouge, La.
- WHY/HOW: Charlie Rauh is the second artist to serve in LSU Vet Med's residency program and the first musical artist in this role across the United States. Throughout his residency, Rauh composed and recorded at least six original songs, many inspired by observing the trust between veterinarians and their animal patients. During this program, he had the opportunity to explore how art can heal these animals and promote teaching in this niche field. The concert will highlight this unique collaboration between music and veterinary medicine and is free and open to the public.

###

Since 1973, The LSU School of Veterinary Medicine has improved and protected the lives of animals and people through superior education, transformational research, and compassionate care. As Louisiana's only veterinary school, LSU Vet Med trains future veterinarians and biomedical scientists, provides advanced clinical services through the Veterinary Teaching Hospital and Stephenson Pet Clinic and advances discoveries that benefit both animal and human health.
